

Medi Aid (UK) Ltd Terms and conditions

Your contract is made with the Medi Aid (UK) Ltd. Account holders with a signed contract please refer to your individual contracts.

Medi Aid (UK) Ltd reserves the right to cancel or reschedule any of its courses. Where it is necessary to cancel or reschedule any courses the customer's point of contact will be informed at the first available opportunity and delegates will be rescheduled as priority to the next available course/s.

Payment: Full payment is required prior to the course date. We reserve the right to withhold certificates until full payment has been cleared. Individual consumers are required to make payment at time of booking.

Scheduled Courses

Cancellations: The Full course fee is charged for cancellations received 14 working days or less before the course start date. Cancellations received 28 days or less but more than 14 working days a 50% cancellation fee is charged. All cancellations must be in writing. A minimum administration fee of £20 + VAT applies.

Failure to attend the course will result in the full cost of the course being charged.

Transfers: If you wish to transfer a person or people on to another course then the charges above apply. If you subsequently cancel a booking after a transfer has been made then the full cost of the course will be charged. Any request to transfer a course will need to be in writing (including email), otherwise this is treated as a cancellation and full cancellation terms apply.

Substitutions: No charges will be applied to any substitutions of people on to a booked course. If you subsequently cancel a booking then the full cost of the course will be charged.

Refunds: Most refunds are issued on the payment method used at the time of purchase. Refunds are subject to the clauses above.

Course Prices: All our prices are subject to VAT at the prevailing rate.

All Bookings

Course timing and joining instructions: Good time keeping throughout the course is essential. We will issue instructions for candidates to the course booker, which includes information on the start time of the course. It is the responsibility of the booker to ensure that the candidate is fully briefed and made aware of these instructions and all course requirements, before attending the course.

It is the responsibility of the booker to make sure the joining instructions on schedules courses are received and passed to the candidates. Instructions will be sent via the selected method at least 14 days prior to the course start date, or if the course is confirmed and is to commence within 14 days then the joining instructions will be received within 5 working days.

If the joining instructions are not received it is the bookers responsibility to contact the sales and service team at Medi Aid (UK) Ltd (01634 540 999) to arrange for them to be resent. It is the booker and candidates responsibility to ensure they are attending the correct course. Failure to attend the course will result in the full cost of the course being charged.

Attendance: Candidates must attend and complete all aspects of the course to qualify for certification. The full cost of the course will be charged for candidates who arrive late or are absent from all or any part of the course, even when they are refused admittance due to lateness.

Meeting the needs of the candidates - Medi Aid (UK) Ltd has an Equal Opportunities

Policy. To enable us to ensure that all candidates are treated fairly and their requirements are fully met, you must advise us in advance of any needs that your candidates have to enable them to participate fully in the training. Please note that there may be a charge for any additional costs incurred for specialist equipment and/or personnel such as signers or translators.

Candidate Selection: It is the responsibility of the employer to select suitable persons to become first aiders in the workplace. This will depend on a number of factors including an individuals:

- Reliability, disposition and communication skills.
- Aptitude and ability to cope with stressful and physically demanding emergency procedures.
- Normal duties. These should be such that individuals can be made available immediately and rapidly to attend to an emergency.

Candidates unable to meet the above requirements or failing to meet the pre-set assessment criteria for the course, will not be awarded a certificate, and will therefore be unable to act as first aiders within the workplace.

Re-certification: It is the employer's responsibility to ensure that all delegates attending a first aid at work requalification course hold proof of previous first aid at work course or requalification. Candidates who cannot provide this proof will not be accepted onto the course. In this instance the full course fee for the candidate will still be charged. It is the responsibility of the employer to provide a copy of the certificate. If the first-aider does not retrain or requalify before the expiry date on their current certificate they can requalify at any time after the expiry date by undertaking the two-day requalification course. However, it may be prudent to complete the three-day FAW course, especially where a considerable period – ie in excess of one month – has elapsed since the FAW certificate expired. It is for the employer to decide the most appropriate training course to requalify the first-aider. An EFAW requalification course should be of the same duration and content as the initial EFAW course.

Employers need to arrange retraining before certificates expire. If the first-aider does not retrain or requalify before the expiry date on their current certificate they are no longer considered competent to act as a first-aider in the workplace.

Limitation of liability: Except in respect of death or personal injury caused by the negligence of Medi Aid (UK) Ltd, we shall not be liable by reason of any representation (unless fraudulent) or implied warranty condition or other term, or any duty at common law or under the express terms of this agreement, for any loss of profit or any indirect special or consequential loss, cost expenses or other claims for compensation. The entire liability of Medi Aid (UK) Ltd to you under or in connection with this agreement and the provision of the first aid training shall not exceed the sum of twice the contract value.

Data Protection Act 1998

Personal data collected will be used for the purpose of delegate and course administration as required by Medi Aid (UK) Ltd. No information will be passed to any third party unless we are required to do so by law.

The information may also be used for marketing purposes and you could be contacted by letter, fax, telephone or e-mail with details of future events and courses organised or promoted by Medi Aid (UK) Ltd which may be of interest to you.

Medi Aid (UK) Ltd proactively manages all marketing communications to enable delegates and organisations to opt out from further communication at any time. Medi Aid (UK) Ltd will not contact any delegate or organisation that have previously unsubscribed from email or newsletters. As many people have a concern about information being passed to third parties Medi Aid (UK) Ltd will not supply contact details supplied to Medi Aid (UK) Ltd to third parties.
